issued Thursday night.

Mr. Alexander's statement has reference to his construction of the primary law, by which he holds that he is the only regularly qualified candidate. William Schley Howard, chairman of the district executive committee, has taken sharp issue with this contention, claiming that the law providing that all candidates' names must be filed with the secretary of state 30 days before the date of the election, applies only to general elections rather than special elections. He also has claimed that the law leaves the point at issue within the discretion of county ordinaries.

Alexander's Claim.

She also alleged he subjected her to embarrassment by failure to appear at dinner parties at their home even though he had invited numbers of Alexander's Claim.

Mr. Alexander would refute this claim by citing that portion of the act which reads, "in all elections other than primary elections held under auspices of a political party" it shall be the duty of the ordinary to provide official ballots, etc.

After asserting that this law, in his opinion a bad one, is neverheless the law, Mr. Alexander continues:

STREET CARS COLLIDE

Passengers Escape With Minor Bruises.

Passengers on two street cars escaped with nothing more serious than shakings-up and bruises late Thursday afternoon when the cars collided at Washington and Mitchell streets. A Capitol-Forrest avenue car split a switch and sideswiped a Washington street-Lakewood car which was going in the opposite direction. Damage to the cars was slight and service was resumed in a few minutes.

ATTACKS PUBLISHER

Tallahassee, Fla., September 5.—
(P)—Resenting editorial matter appearing recently in the Florida State News, afternoon newspaper, Robert W. Bentley, chairman of the state highway department, engaged in a fist fight today with Fred O. Eberhardt, publisher of the paper, in the State News editorial room.

The fight lasted for only a few moments, visitors to the newspaper and editorial workers separating the two men.

Bentley took offense at an editorial captioned "Poor Florida," and also a paragraph appearing as a follow-up to the editorial in a column conducted by Eberhardt. According to the publisher, in a brief conversation between the two men prior to the clash, the road chairman referred to the editorial page matter as "scanto the editorial page matter as "scan-dalous and libelous."

Bentley was accompanied to the newspaper office by Ben A. Meginnis, the road department attorney, who assisted others in separating the combatants.

In a brief statement following the affair, the road department chairman said he went to the newspaper office to demand a retraction of the reference to him in the column, which he declared he considered "an attempt at defamation of character and absolutely libelous." He said he then invited Eberhardt "to stand up and take a licking." He would not discuss for publication the editorial, declaring he did "not come to enter into a controversy."

ing he did "not come to enter into a controversy."

The fight was sudden, both in starting and ending. Bentley, Eberhardt and McGinnis were conversing when a scuffle was heard. The two men exchanged blows. Eberhardt said Bentley had warned him against printing any more such references to him and that Bentley then exclaimed:

"Take off your glasses." The publisher claimed Bentley moved before he could remove his glasses and rise from his chair.

Eberhardt is a cripple, having been hurt several years ago while engaged as a dirt track automobile driver.

RABBIT IGNORES RATTLERS; BITES 15-FOOT PYTHON

Lincoln, Neb., September 5 .-(United News.) - When he was turned by mistake into a pen with rattlesnakes and a 15-foot python at the state fair here, a little white rabbit cowed the rattlers in one corner and then bit the python. Since he already had dined, the python overlooked the insult and the rabbit swaggered out of the cage into the hands of an astonished keeper.

Operators of Coach Lines Will Oppose New City Ordinance.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale will hold a public hearing at 4 o'clock this after-noon on the ordinance which restricts use of Atlanta's main arteries by busses.

Those favoring and opposing the paper have been invited to attend, and delegations from several nearby cities are expected to be present.

J. C. Steinmetz, manager of the Inter-City Coach Lines, declared Thursday that approval of the ordinance would reduce sales by leading Atlanta merchants many hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, and Atlanta merchants many hundreds or thousands of dollars annually, and that citizens of suburban communities would be restricted from use of busses because the paper virtually outlaws bus transportation by barring the machines from main thorough-

Mrs. Coolidge broke a bottle of mineral water on the slender prow of the cruiser, bestowing upon the ship hame of the city in which she and her husband have resided for many years.

The Northampton represents an effort to build as large a cruiser as practicable within the 10,000-ton limitation set by the international armament conference. Her length of 600 feet compares with the 585-foot G-inch ength of the Pensacola.

Every belt, rivet and scrap of metal that went into the ship was first weighed. The size of every hole drilled in her plates and bulkheads and the thickness of the material was carefully recorded and the weight of metal cut way computed.

Her plates were fastened with rives, but sindle her hull welding was resorted to extensively. Even the maze of pipe lines was not put towith the customary flanges and age. Instead electric welding sed to fuer the many lengths to-declared Rabbi Harry H. Epstein, of 129 Washington terrace, chairman of the emergency fund local committee. "We hope to reach the masses of Atlanta with the plea for donations, for we want everyone who possibly can to give something for the relief of the Palestine people," he stated.

The Atlanta committee will also handle the campaign over the state of Georgia, Rabbi Epstein said. No definite quota has been set, but every effort will be directed toward raising as much moncy as possible. Rabbi Epstein said that the New York headquarters of the emergency campaign has promised to send $50,000 a day to Palestine until conditions are restored to normal.

Similar gatherings will be held at Gainesville, Augusta, Albany and Vidalia. One of the features of these meetings will be the celebration of the production of the millionth Chevrolet Six for 1929, which left the assembly lines early in August. Building of 1,000,000 six-cylinder automobiles in eight months is a feat that has never been approached by any other manufacturer in the history of the automobile industry, it is claimed.

LEGION WILL GIVE "BIG TIME" ACTS HERE SEPT. 19

Tickets for the mammoth vaudeville show to be staged by the American Legion at the city auditorium September 19, will be distributed among members of the local post within a few days and will be placed on sale at dozens of stores throughout the city, it was announced Thursday.

The show is being given for the purpose of raising funds to send the post drum and bugle corps to the national legion convention to be held at Louisville. Ky., September 30 to October 3. Twenty professional "big time" acts have been secured for the performance and these will be assisted by a 20-piece orchestra under the direction of Johnny Lee, it was announced.

The presentation of this show is made possible through the co-operation of the national legion headquarters and Joe Spiegleberg's booking agency. Most of the acts are being brought here from New York stages and night clubs but some are being secured from Chicago and other cities.

G. M. A. WILL OPEN TUESDAY; RECORD CLASSESSEEN

Opening of the Georgia Military academy, at College Park, Tuesday, will find a capacity enrollment of students from 30 states, Mexico, Cuba, Colombia and Java, it was announced Thursday by school authorities. G. M. A. has for the past several years been designated an honor military school by the war department, being one of only 16 in the country.

New faculty members for the coming year include Captain J. S. Burbage, who recently was a member of Duke university coaching staff; Captain M. C. Paget, coach and teacher of history; Captain A. M. Stephens, recently principal of the high school at Elizabeth City, N. C., and Captain Jack Welsh, of Atlanta.

Recruiting Wide Open.

For the first time in many years the local marine corps recruiting sta-tion at 79 1-2 South Forsyth street, received orders to accept every possible applicant for enlistment dur-ing the month of September. They were unable to draw any conclusions about these factors.

After all, even if the doctors could establish a clear relationship between weather conditions and the feelings of patients, what might they expect to do about it? As it is, the results of this investigation make me feel more convinced than ever that the patients with lung trouble, Bright's disease, arteriosclerosis, neuritis, obesity, antenia, and what not, should rise up now and shout discredited arthritic prophets down. On a second occasion we declined to join in the issuance of a virtual ultimatum to the Chinese, which the other allied commanders had agreed to issue, requiring the Chinese not only to stop their advancing troops 20 li (six and three quarter American miles) from the limits of Tientsin, but to remove all their troops already within the city to this 20 li deadline.

The ultimatum was never issued. Had it been I fear the Chinese, in reprisal, might have attacked us. On a third occasion we were instrumental in preventing the extension of the allied lines from the foreign concession into the Chinese city, proper.

CUP RACE ENTRANTS SUFFER MINOR MISHAP

Calshot, England, September 5.—
(P)—Minor mishaps, so frequently associated with high speed contests, today marked the last practice sessions for the Schneider cup race. The tourney between the speed kings of the English and Italian air forces is to start tomorrow, the forecast being for fair and warm weather. The first day's program will be devoted to navigation tests.

day's program will be devoted to navigation tests.

In the Italian team the machine assigned to Dal Molin is the plane in which Major Bernhardi set up a world's record of 318.5 miles an hour in 1927. The young warrant officer must depend upon this old machine because his Macchi plane suffered a punctured float in today's tests and was saved from sinking only when a speed boat poked its bow under the starboard wing.

The English outfit also had to put speed boat poked its bow under the starboard wing.

The English outfit also had to put in reserve a Glosier Napier 6 in which Lieutenant Stainforth was practicing. It developed trouble with its gas line. Estimates of the speed that will be attained in the races have gone up to 360 and even to 380 miles an hour. These have been based upon the tests but whether such speed has actually been attained has been carefully concealed by both teams. Admittedly, therefore, the preliminary estimates are only rough approximations.

There will probably be an interesting supplement to the racing. The Italians, who have said they hold little hope of winning the Schneider cup, were reported as intending to attempt a new world record on a straight-away flight, where speed alone will be the object and the dangerous corners of the cup course will be eliminated. Tonight the Britishers were credited with a similar intention and it was said they would make the trial next Monday with two of their Gloster Napier machines.

BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED THURSDAY TOTAL $250,000

Building permits issued Thursday totalled approximately a quarter-mil-lion dollars, according to figures in Building Inspector C. J. Bowen's

A permit issued to Peters Land Company, Inc., authorized erection of a three-story building at Penchtree and Cain streets, on the site of the old First Baptist church, at a cost of $180,000.

Seven other permits authorizing the installation of eight elevators in important buildings now under construction in the business area, to be installed by the Otis Elevator Company, totalled $35,435.

EMPTY BOX CARS DAMAGED BY BLAZE; ONE IS DESTROYED

For the second time in as many days firemen from station No. 16 Thursday night were forced to lay more than 1,000 feet of hose to fight stubborn blaze that badly damaged a stubborn blaze that badly damaged six empty box cars and destroyed another in the Seaboard railway yard near Marietta street. Cause of the fire was reported as unknown.

Early Tuesday morning several empty cars in the same yard were razed. A tramp's carelessness with matches was said to have been responsible.

RICHARDS AND COBB ENTER ALDERMANIC RACE IN NEW WARD

Alvin Richards and Robert Cobb, Jr., will fight it out for the aldermanic nomination from the newly created fourteenth ward, unless other aspirates enter the race. Both councilmanic posts are contested.

The three posts must be filled by the first Monday in January, 1930, and the general election will be held the first Wednesday in December of this year.

There are four entries thus far in the councilmanic race. They are Oliver Dolvin, E. Stevens, Robert E. Lee Reynolds and William S. Sanders. A hot contest is expected for all three positions.

PAPER EMPLOYES MAKE DEPOSITIONS FOR CONTROL SUIT

Columbia, S. C., September 5 .- (A) Under an order in United States dis-

Under an order in United States district court at Charleston, S. C., depositions were taken today from J. J. Marshall and H. Batt, employes of the Columbia Record, for possible use in the Hall-Lavarre newspaper suit when it is resumed in Macon, Ga. next Monday.

The depositions, together with records of the newspaper were requested by attorneys for Harold Hall in his suit against William Lavarre for equal operating control of the Augusta (Ga.,) Chronicle, the Spartanburg, (S. C.) Herald and Journal, and the Record.

In his suit, Hall contended he was Lavarre's partner in purchase of the four papers with funds furnished by the International Power Company, but Lavarre answered that Hall was an employe, and abandoned the Chrdnicle, to which he was assigned.

Testimony began 10 days ago before Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver in federal court at Macon, and was halted last Saturday to permit the judge's presence elsewhere on the bench. Hall's ed last Saturday to permit the judge's presence clsewhere on the bench. Hall's testimony has been heard, and the re-mainder of a fund of $870,000 placed in the hands of the two men, together with the stock of the papers, has been ordered into court.

Heflin, Jr., To Face Liquor Charge Trial In Alabama Today

Phenix City, Ala., September 5.—
(P)—J. Thomas Heflin, Jr., son of the senior senator from Alabama, and B. M. Haines, his companion, were scheduled to face trial in recorder's court here tomorrow on charges of violating the prohibition law, public drunkenness and failure to obey commands of officers.

They were arrested here Monday night and remained in prison until bonds were posted.

Officers who arrested them said their automobile, proceeding irregularly along a street, first attracted their attention. Commands from the policemen to halt were said to have been ignored.

Bandit Victim Freed. Harbin, Manchuria, September 5.—
(P)—Two British insurance inspectors here, who were kidnaped by Manchurian bandits August 22, have been released and are en route to Harbin. A third member of the party managed to escape receitly.

between the two groups, Borah would not go into details, but he said the independents would have no objection to deferring a recommittal motion, if it was decided to make one, until after the debate had proceeded awhile.

As for the resolution of Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma to strike out rate sections of the bill except that relating to agriculture, but under which industrial tariff amendments could be proposed, the impression among the democrats and western republicans seemed to be that this was impractical.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, in charge of the bill for the finance committee majority, said he would not object to consideration of the administrative provisions first, so the inital clash on the tariff itself seems destined to revolve around these sections in the final part of the bill.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, will move that the administrative sections be dealt with at the election in October.

These sentiments were echoed These sentiments were echoed by Tom Morris, councilman from the fifth ward, who in an address at the close of the meeting pleaded for support of the democratic nominee in the general election in October.

In opening his address Mr. Ramspeck stated that while he was a comparatively young man, he was not too young for such a responsible position and that his previous experience in Washington would be of great value in the event that he was elected.

Outlining what he hoped to accomplish in the event that his candidacy is successful, he cited aid for war plish in the event that his candidacy is successful, he cited aid for war veterans with less red tape in the veterans' hureau; quick action on the matter of Atlanta's new federal building which has been held up for some months pending selection of a site; all possible assistance in bringing the proposed soldiers' and sailors' home to Atlanta; and a determined fight on the new tariff rates.

Mrs. Brown began her remarks by saying that Fulton county had not had a congressman in years and that it was about time that DeKalb county yield to Fulton. She cited the fact that she, too, had had much political experience and was in a position to help every voter in the district, if sent to Washington.

"Mr. Ramspeck is a fine boy," she declared, "and will make you a good congressman about eight years from now. "I'll support him then myself. Now, however, I am bucking the political machine all alone and I am going to win out. There is no need for any further prejudice against women. The record of the women who served in the World War is enough to do away with that. I can give you better representation than any man and you are going to elect me."

THURSDAY AIR MAIL.

Mr. Cargill, who is president of the Chattahoochee Valley and Gulf Association, was speaking before the Fort Gaines Chamber of Commerce when he urged that the use of hydroplanes be considered by towns lying along the Chattahoochee. He was speaking on the history of efforts to obtain a nine-foot channel on the Chattahoochee from Columbus to Apalachicola, Fla., but suggested that the flying boats might be put in services for rapid transit before the channel could be completed for heavy freight hauling.

With the return of George Shealy and Bonnie Rowe Thursday the last of the pilgrims to Cleveland were back at the home port. The pair arrived in the T. A. T. Travel Air in which Shealy won the race for OX-5-powered places.

Overnight rail and air mail service between Rome and New York recently has been made possible by special connections between motor trucks at the Atlanta N., C. St. L. station and Candler field. This adds another to the growing list of Georgia towns which have been placed withis overnight distance of the great eastern centers of population and trade.

Something workers should learn from athletes - To take advantage of the pause that refreshes

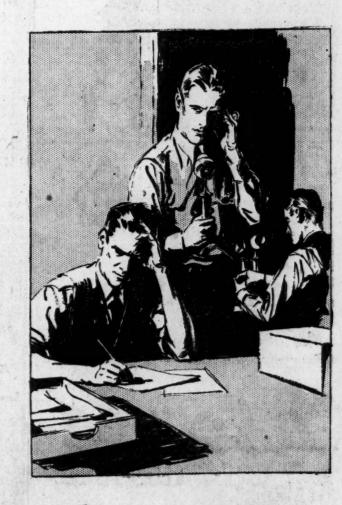

It doesn't matter how hard you've got to work. You can learn a lot about keeping up speed and good spirits from a ball game. You learn that the brief rest period between innings gives the game its pep and zip—that a pause for an ice-cold Coca-Cola relieves the tense moments, and gets everybody off to a fresh start . . . Today workers in offices and factories have caught the idea—how an ice-cold Coca-Cola, with its tingling, delicious taste and cool after-sense of refreshment, makes a little minute long enough for a big rest. They call it the pause that refreshes. Better work results. That wins the approval of the sternest boss who ever kept tab on a time-clock. Everybody is happier.

On September 10, 1879, Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Buchanan, who will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at a reception Tuesday, September 10, 1929, at their home, 532 Ponce de Leon avenue, from 8 to 11 o'clock, were wed in the old Third Baptist church, which was located on Jones avenue. The following day an account, which is both vivid and heartfelt, appeared in The Atlanta Constitution. The Miss Buchanan went to housekeeping on Broad street in Decatur immediately after their wedding in the Third Baptist church.

president of Pi Omicron, welcomed the Alpha chapter into the national sorority. Miss Reed visualized for the members the idea of the sorority, its origin, and some of the things it hopes to accomplish in promoting the pursuit of cultural improvement. Miss Reed states one of the purposes of the sorority is the continuing of adult education and the developing of more alert minds on subjects too infrequently touched upon by most people who have intended "keeping up" after school days.

Mrs. Tola M. McGowen, staff organizer for Pittsburgh, Pa., read a paper covering the insignia of Pi Omicron. in which she told of the origin of the name from the Greek letters.

Dr. M. H. Dewey, head of the fine arts department at Emory university, was the speaker of the evening, using the subject "The Advantage of an Education and Its Continuance." Derling is a famous aviator, but to keep it knowledge from his mother and spare of the total and the same of Douglas Harris, and as Bouglas farris he is tried and convicted.

While the convicts are at work in a marry Douglas finds a tobacco tin containing an unsigned note, telling him he will be secured the next day. He follows directions not escapes in a furniture van. He is awed, dressed in new clothes, and driven to the Gunter hotel, where, to his amazensat, he is greeted by Cora Sefton. She has registered as his wife.

Cecily Warren, the girl Dong loves, is also staying at the Gunter hotel, and is stranged when she sees him embraced by Gora. She assumes that he has been secretly married and leaves for London at once, distillusioned and hearthroken.

The manager of the hotel overhears Sir Aylmer Granston, Doug's old friend, greet him as Lord Dorling. He saks if Mrs. Sefton is Lady Dorling, and when Doug says she is not, he requests that they leave at once. Doug lies out of the difficulty, but sees it is imperative to get away before the manager discovers his deception. The following morning he drives to London with Judge Granston, leaving a note for Cora. She instantly wires to Jabez Molloran, a well-known amateur connoisseur of the arts and a neighbor of the Granstons. As Malloran is deceding the wire, Marthe Perraile, Cecily's maid, calls to report to him. She is obviously in his employ. He orders her to bring the girl within a few days to a fown called Mortvaig in Scotland.

INSTALLMENT XI.

CECILY CAUSES A SENSATION. Judge Granston had a house in Barrington square, that quiet and most expensive residential quarter in west central London. Hugh brought the car to a halt outside No. 41.

"Half past 5," grunted the judge. Hugh, you've broken the law and risked our necks, with the net result that we've nothing to do till dinner time. Douglas, my boy, you'll have to excuse me while I have a nap. Hugh, give him the room next to yours."

Ten minutes later Dorling left the room that had been allotted to him and went out of the house. As his foot touched the pavement he felt a wild exhilation. Here was the embodiment of freedom-to walk alone, unnoticed, one of London's anonymous millions. In five minutes he was in the Theobald's road and presently turned into a small news agent-tobacconist's. The proprietor, a cripple in early middle age, glanced at him for a moment without interest.

"Well, Jarvis, how goes it?" asked Dorling brightly.

"Well, now, m'ford. Tell you the truth, I didn't recognize you, not at first I didn't. Of course, if I'd seen you first in the full light-"

"That's all right! You weren't ex-

"Yes. The fact is, Jarvis, I got into a bit of a mess. Frankly, I've come to you to help me—if it doesn't go against your conscience."

"Conscience, eh? 'Ain't got much in that line, m'lord. But what I've got wouldn't let me refuse anything that you or any of your family or friends was to ask of me, even if I didn't want to do it. Your father needn't 'ave set me up in this little business—I 'aven't got no claim on nobody but the government, rightly speaking, for government, rightly speaking, for 'ere leg." shall be getting letters and pos-

He wrote down the judge's address. "After that send everything to me at Dorling. I fancy the people who send the messages will try to find out who you're sending 'em on to. They who you're sending 'em on to. They know my name isn't Sefton, but they don't know what it is."

"They won't find out from me!" langhed Jarvis. "Trust me for that, in lord."

"I will trust you, Jarvis—and I'm much obliged to you. Good night."

Outside the shop he decided to take a walk before dinner, but changed his mind. A vague sense of danger assailed him that was at once dispelled when he returned to the judge's house. As he dressed for dinner his spirits rose higher and higher. He had taken the game out of Cora's control and was playing his own hand, taking his own risk of a false step.

Lady Granston was genuinely pleased to see him, Dinner he thoroughly enjoyed. When Lady Granston withdrew, urging them not to sit too Excuse me a minute, Douglas." he finished as the butler brought the late edition of the judge's favorite evening paper.

"Huh!" We ought to have come back yesterday," he grunted. "I see there was a Sheridan original knocked down at Christie's for eight hundred. Ah! . . . was finally knocked down to Mr. Malleron, who is well known." Hugh was called to the telephone.

"It's Malleron, uncle," he said a moment later. "He wants to know whether you're interested in the Sheridan manuscript—and can he come round and show it to you?"

Five minutes later Mr. Malleron was announced.

"This is very good of you, Mr. Malleron. Very good, indeed," said the judge, beaming.

Malleron beamed back as at a brother collector.

"I thought you'd be interested. I have it in the bag. If you want it you can take it for what it cost me. It's not my line of interest."

"But, my dear sir, I couldn't dream."

"It's a trifle. As a matter of fact.
I only bought it on behalf of a friend who could not be present. And—er—my friend seemed to think that"—he gave a short, deprecatory laugh—"that my ignorance had been exploited in the matter of the price. I was sorry to lose a friend."

Dorling slaveed toler.

Dorling glanced idly at the visitor and knew suddenly that he had seen him before.

"Ah, I am forgetting. Forgive me. Dougls. I have as guest the son of an old friend. Let me introduce Lord Dorling—Mr. Malleron."

"Surely we have met before!" exclaimed Malleron.

"Your elegance, Lord Dorling, leaves me speechless," said Malleron. He was a grand seigneur, indeed, out of a nineteenth century melodrama, thought Dorling, yet the old man seemed free from conscious affectation. "Come, now. I recently had the privilege of meeting Lady Dorling, your mother, presumably. That explains my mistake. I have a tiny place less than twenty I have a tiny place less than twenty miles from Dorling and your mother was good enough to invite me to look at your fourteenth century missals. Coach W. A. Alexander's squad of Yellow Jackets at the Rose Bowl field took two important steps in their practice session Thursday afternoon.

The first was one towards the final mpletion of the squad, when Ware itzgerald, who is a leading candilate for the vacant post at fullback, send the Engineers out to do actual battle in defense of the reputation built last year, it was just an added indication of the rapidly approaching nearness of that day.

The Jackets, following the session at calisthenics, went directly into a signal drill which occupied the remainder of the afternoon. And, what with this longest drill as one boost, Alex added to the climbing tactics by giving his charges a few plays, new for this year but patterned on the old Tech style.

for this year but patterned on the old Tech style.

Passes were thrown for the first time of the present—or coming—season. Earl Dunlap, Doug Graydon and Edwin Hall were doing the best of the flinging. Dunlap, who has been in—charge—of the "first team" during past signal drills, runs the squad well, and is taking to the attention and instruction which is being showered on him by the coaching staff. He and Graydon, the Little Rock sophomore who is holding down Warner Mizell's job as running mate to—Stumpy Thomason, playing together on the first string, were tossing the oval through the air with real skill and accuracy, hitting their marks—on dead center with plenty of speed. Hall, a recruit from the battalion ranks, was also doing a creditable job of hurling.

The "first string" lined up in exactly the same way as it did Wednesday, with one exception. Ed Herron, who seems to have fallen heir terms Waddev's post at right end.

to cause any anxiety but still tender enough to keep him out of uniform at this stage of the game, was replaced by Sid Williams, sophomore flankman. Williams carned a good reputation on the rat squad last year, and should be a valuable man to have around this fall.

With the exception of Mizell, who is due Mouday, and "Dutch" Faisst, who is expected to report either this afternoon or Saturday, the advent of Fitzgeraid completes the Jacket squad. Ware has spent a hard summer, and looks—and says he is—fit for anything. He was in uniform Thursday, but did little work.

Atlanta and Birmingham were rained out Thursday afternoon in Birmingham, and two games will be played either foday or Saturday. Nashville and Memphis and Mobile and New Orleans also were rained out, and only Chattaneoga and Little Rock completed their game, which Chattaneoga won, 4 to 1.

SWEETSER, TOLLEY LOSE

Very, very slowly Conference football teams are shaping up for the campaign. Several squads have not even assembled and many others are still shy one or two stars who have been given special permits to report late.

This first week is mainly concerned with working off poundage accumulated in summer. But by next week, the lads, self-condemned to three months at hard labor, really will begin to serve their sentences.

An embarrassing situation has just been relieved at Georgia, for instance. Uniforms were delayed and the Bulldogs we been dashing around Sanford field in shocking dishabille. The poor benighted Hindu was all bundled up compared to the average Bulldog since practice began. However, word from Athens reveals that the premises will present from now on a more conventional aspect since the duds arrived.

COACHES STILL WONDER.

Not until several scrimmages have been held can a coach tell how his new eleven will perform. Until he has seen his men in action he is filled with uncertainty.

Forecasts now on Conference football teams are next to impossible; and even guesses made a week hence must be revised ere the season opens.

STILL UNDEFEATED.

Since coaches and sports writers rushed with one accord to the town square to announce that poor old Tech was in for a licking this year, Tech alumni of the old-fashioned sort have roared their defiance of alleged expert opinion and offered to back their judgments.

One elderly Tech graduate with more recklessness than one of his years should manifest has sent me a ticket offering "evens" that I nor anyone else can name a southern team that will beat Tech this fall. He left a blank space for writing an amount.

Of course I dropped the paper like a hot brick. It is foolish and immoral-to wager on football games. No good ever comes from such ill-gotten gains; and certainly none can result from

Furthermore, the old-timer offered 1 to 5 that Tech would not be defeated by Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Tulane or Vanderbilt, which is more of the same.

I merely repeat this wickedness in order to show that whereas all of us "experts" have begun to feel sorry for Tech, the Lindale Drops Second Flat graduates are far from defeated yet.

TEAMS BATTLE FOR SECONDARY PEGS IN RACE

First Place in Both Leagues Seems Definitely Settled.

By William J. Dunn,

United News Staff Correspondent, New York, September 5.— The fast-fading pennant races were at the eve of their final intersectional series today with only secondary positions in both major leagues in dispute.

In the American league the western teams were heading east for their final invasion before the end of the season. Eastern National league teams were turned westward for the semi-windup of their respective cam-

AMERICAN SETTLED.

AMERICAN SETTLED.

The American league appears a bit more settled. New York seems sure of second place and there is great doubt that any team will be able to wrest seventh and eighth positions from Chicago and Boston, respectively. Cleveland, in third place in the American league, held only a two-game lead over St. Louis as the Indians entrained for Philadelphia for their final series with the Athletics which opens tomorrow. By Orlo L. Robertson.

Associated Press Sports Writer. New York, September 5.— (AP)—Sending out an entry to run one-two in a race appears to be the habit with Harry Payne Whitney and Trainer Jimmy Rowe.

For the second time in less than a week the light blue and brown-topped Whitney silks finished first and second in an important stake event as Dustemall led the field home in the Matron stakes at Belmont park today and Murky Cloud took down place money. Whitney's other one-two triumph was at Saratoga last Satur-day when Boojum and Whichone won the Hopeful.

Rain almost washed the baseball program away Thursday, four of six scheduled games being cancelled entirely by inclement weather, while a fifth was halted at the end of the fifth inning.

Cleveland defented Detroit, 4 to 0, in the only game of the day in the American league, Ken Holloway holding the Tigers to two hits in the five innings played before rain interfered.

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat Cincinnati, 10 to 5, in the lone National league contest, rallying in the third to score seven runs off Red Lucas. Ervin Brame got credit for the victory, allowing Cincinnati 11 hits.

Given the manpower, Columbia hopes for something of a gridiron renaissance this year as no effort has been spared to give the team the benefit of experienced and competent master-minding. Since last year Ed Walker, of Stanford, has been obtained to imbue the line with some of the mobility and power that characterizes the forward walls of the old fox, "Pop" Warner, while Mike Hanley has been brought from Northwestern to take charge of the backfield men.

In addition to these worthy representatives of far western and middle western football thought, Crowley has Bliss Price, Columbia tackle of about four years ago, to help Walker with the linesmen, and Ray Wagner, another former star at Columbia, te specialize in ceaching the ends. GATOR BACKS MUST BATTLE FOR POSITIONS

Eleven Halfbacks Will Begin Scramble Friday for Berths on Team.

By Joe Holsinger, Backfield Coach, U. of Fla.

Gainesville, September 5 .-The battle for the backfield positions on the Fighting 'Gator football machine of 1929 promises to be a hot one.

OTHER TRIPLE THREAT.

Silsby, a lanky hard-driving back, who was on the 1928 squad until forced to drop out of school because of sickness in his family, is the other triple threat back. He weighs about 185 pounds, is over six feet and can punt. He is a very promising back, and with a little more experience he should prove a real help to the squad. "Whitey" McLucas will also be bat-Leonard and Schwartz were employed in tossing a few to some ends and The position causing the most dis-"Whitey" McLucas will also be bat-tling for recognition. "Whitey" will be handicapped, however, in that he cussion at present is that of quarter back. Parker and Leonard seem to be the leading candidates, but nothing has developed in practice to give either the edge. Both are passers. Parker is heavier and has the most power, while Leonard is by far the better broken field runner. He is more elusive.

Knoxville, Tenn. September 5.

(A)—Little will be known of what is going on in the camp of the University of Tennessee Volunteers, at least for the next few days. Coach Bob Neyland barred all spectators from today's practice session. The first group of signals was given the squad. There are around 45 candidates on hand. The squad is virtually complete, although Phil Deane, depended upon to fill a tackle position, had not put in an appearance.

wheat trade manifested uncertainty over the crop news today and declined to take sides for the time being. With the moment's weather report from Argentina bullish but with some prospects of rain there, prices averaged higher through most of the day but finished a fraction easier. The price range for the entire session was no wider than 1 1-2 cents.

September wheat futures finished unchanged to 1-4c higher while deferred deliveries were 1-8 to 5-8c lower. Corn was weak, closing 1-4 to 1 1-2c down and oats 1-8 higher to 3-8@1-2c lower. Provisions closed easy, prices unchanged to 10c lower. The early trend in wheat was upward, lack of rain in Argentina having turned the Liverpool market up. The news was counterbalanced later, however, by threatening weather in the southern hemisphere and pressure of Argentine grain offerings below parity with December futures.

The world generally seems to be crying for rain. Canadian wheat was burned up this year for want of moisture, and North American corn has been carriedly despend to the control of the control o been seriously damaged by firing dur-ing the critical period. U. S. depart-ment of agriculture figures showed that only 03 inch of rain has fallen in northern and southern Argentina in the last six weeks and since last in the last six weeks and since last October Argentine rainfall has been only 70 per cent of normal. Drought in Australia has reduced the probable wheat crop to an estimated 100,000.000 bushels, with only half a crop in the eastern wheat states, according to private reports. German pastures and potatoes are reported suffering from hot dry weather, and today attention was drawn to a 25 per centeration was drawn to a 25 per centeration. tention was drawn to a 25 per cent ortage of precipitation in southern alina with a rice crop about 4,000,000 ns short of normal. New York, September 5.—(P)—Declines of one to seven points in convertibles and the appearance of a somewhat better tone in a number of pivotal investment issues of standard types marked today's trading on the bond market. Inquiry for obligations of all grades remained light in view of the firmness of money, and the trend of the list as a whole was irregular.

Announcement of the treasury's September 15 financing operation, involving the issuance of $500,000,000 in nine-month 4 7-8 per cent certificates, came after the close of a session which found listed government securities showing noticeable improvement. Although the coupon on the forthcoming issue 6 1-4 of a per cent lower than that carried by the June 15 notes, it was recalled that the 5 1-8 per cent rate of the latter had brought an immediate ar substantial premium in the certificates, indicating that the 5 received in unsually large blocks, but made a net decline of half a point. Seaboard Air Line adjustment 5s lost a point.

Fisk Rubber 8s, which for several days had been rising under the withdrawal of that support, closing at 96 1-2 for a net loss of 9 1-2. Goodyear Tire and Rubber 5s were unable to maintain a early gain and finished with a ractional loss.

The foreign list ruled dull, although the carried by the June 15 south alf a point. Kreuger and Toll 5s with warrants traded in considerable volume, but moved within a narrow price range. an immediate ar substantial premium in the certificates, indicating that the trensury had been a trifle too generous. The maturing notes carry 4 1-4 and 4 3-4 per cent rates and the higher interest offered by the new issue reflects the recent trend of money rates.

New York, September 5.—(P)—A brisk upturn in prices on the New York Curb Exchange today was checked by the back-wash of liquidated to which swept over the "big board" in the last hour of trading. While the decline was by no means general, and a rather long list of issues closed with net gains, several of the movement received a decided set-back.

The market quickly recovered from the nervousness created by the insole exchange member loans, announced after the close yesterday, and pools started to mark up a wide assortment of public utilities and pools started to mark up a wide assortment of public utilities and pools started to mark up a wide assortment of public utilities and the profits on the first sign of heaviness. The weekly federal reserve statement showed a further increase of $137,000,000 in brokers loans to another new high record.

Rew York, September 5.—(P)—Resoft rains in the southwest proved signal for more or less general ng in the cotton market today, bulk of which was attributed to izing or liquidation. After selloff to 19.22 December rallied to 20 on covering and trade buying failed to hold the improvement, ing at 19.23. The general market ed steady at net declines of 6 to 20 hts.

The opening was barely steady at a ine of 4 to 15 points under selling uenced by relatively easy Liveraches and reports of rains in as. Offerings were heavy and the ket soon showed net losses of 16 18 points on the active months, a October declining to 18.87 and ch to 18.45. The trade was a er at these figures which also atted the considerable covering or reng by recent sellers and the marstiffened up during the middle of day.

pinion was expressed in some ters that the southwestern rains probably too late to add materialathe the crop unless there should be unusually late growing season, view no doubt contributed to midday rally, while there may have been some buying on considerable covering or considerable covering on considerable covering considerable

44,000 bales. This served to check ing if not to stimulate demand, the volume of business tapered off the rally and prices eased again

No Announcement.

New York, September 5.—(P)—The New York Federal Reserve bank today made no announcement regarding its 6 per cent rediscount rate, after the weekly meeting of directors. This was interpreted in Wall Street as in-

New York. September 5.—No sales were reported in the raw gugar market today, but the undertone was firm and there were further buyers at last paid prices of 3.89 for spets duty paid, with offerings light and only at higher levels.

Raw futures were generally steadier on continued covering by September shorts, promoted by the firmness of the spot market. The market opened 1 point lower to 2 points higher and at one time active positions were 2 to 4 points above the previous close. There were 35 notices issued, but they appeared to be promptly stepped by the same interests that have taken up the previous cleiveries; and while the September position held firm, the later months eased off partially under liquidation and some selling by trade interests. Trading on the whole was not particularly active and the action of the market was due principally to evening up, in September contracts, with the later months being sold against purchases of the September and December positions. The market closed 4 points higher on September and from 1 point lower to 2 points higher on later deliveries. Approximate sales 34,709 tons. September 2.48. May 2.33. July 2.39, September 2.48.

Befined was reduced 20 points to the basis of 3.30 for five granulated at the opening, with a fair inquiry reported.

> Copper shares were strong on reports of recent heavy sales of metal. For the week ending this Tuesday, which included Labor Day holiday, which included Labor Day holiday, domestic sales of copper were given as 200,000,000 pounds, the largest seven days' sales in the history of the industry in this country. Heavy foreign sales were also reported. However, copper remains at 18 cents, producers failing to follow the advance of 1-4 of a cent announced Tuesday by one large company. Higher prices are predicted for copper in the very near future. Another factor making for strength in the copper shares was a report that President Ryan of Anaconda, who for weeks has been out on an inspection trip, will return to Wall Street in a few days and make an Street in a few days and make an optimistic statement on the situation and outlook in the copper trade.

Sales Run High.

Phelps Dodge shares were bought on information from insiders that the company's sales of copper for the past week amounted to 40,000,000 pounds. This compares with 65,000,000 pounds for the entire first six months of the year. It is the Phelps Dodge Company that is building the new copper smelter in Texas to lock after the production of the company's own mines.

General Motors touched the high street level early in the day reached since the collapse in the stock market last May. According to Wall Street gossip Raskob and other insiders in General Motors and DuPont are behind the recent upward price movement in General Motors. W. C. Durant is back in the stock market on the long side. He is now more active in the stock market than at any time since the break earl, in the year which occurred while he was abroad. Gossip at that time had Durant taking a large loss in the stock market following the warnings put out early in February by the federal reserve board against future use of federal reserve credit for stock seems like.

517,000 for July and 492,000 for August of last year, according to figures given out by the automobile chamber of commerce. For the eight months the figures are 4,446,000 against 3,236,000 for the corresponding period of 1928. This is a gain over last year of 37 per cent. Ford is the big factor in this year's high record automobile production.

Rails Bought Early.

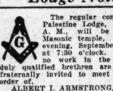

Rails were bought early in the day on the weekly statement of freight car loadings. The figures made a new high for all time for this season. This month and October and November are the big months for railroad traffic. Crops are being marketed with the funds thus raised by the agricultural sections exchanged for goods of all kinds. Both the eastbound and westbound movement of freight for September, October and November are the largest for any three months of the year.

Many traders sold stocks in the last the year.

Many traders sold stocks in the last hour after reading the Babson prediction of a decline in the stock market equal to the collapse of the Florida real estate boom. Babson says investment trust selling will speed up the decline ahead in the stock market just as they have kept the bull stock market boiling by buying.

With other commodities—cotton or poultry, for instance—it is possible to make a fair estimate of cost of production. The farmer can keep a fairly close account of his expenditures on each particular product and of his returns and thus calculate his profit, if any. Not so the hide producer, for hides are merely a by-product of the meat industry so far as the major grades are concerned. little evidence of any bearish attitude in the trade.

The excellent volume of shoe production that is expected this fall, seasonal improvement in the quality of hides and perhaps tariff imposition are prospective bullish factors which would aid further advance. If, however, prices are earried to abnormal levels, the price weakening that is normal from November to April may
